Who We Are Disability Network Wayne County-Detroit

Disability Network Wayne County-Detroit is a community service, community resource and advocacy nonprofit organization.

We serve the City of Detroit and Wayne County. We combine experience and peer-support in delivering services to people with disabilities and their families. We partner with community agencies, schools and businesses to improve quality of life. Our services are provided on site, in schools, and various community locations.

Our Mission

is to empower, educate and advocate for individuals with disabilities while promoting independent living, inclusion and accessible pathways.

Our Vision

is a community within Wayne County that embraces the uniqueness of disabilities with respect and dignity while having equal access to all parts of the community which they live.

Lori A. Hill-Sanders
Executive Director
